THE STUDY OF BOOK KEEPING.

88 Cedar street, near Broadway.

93 C. C. MARSH, Accountant, continues to give Practical Lessons in this most necessary branch of a mercantile education. Also, to open, close or adjust accounts, and to write up books.

The course of instruction through which the pupil passes is thoroughly practical; and the person of good capacity, who devotes about three weeks to the study, will be qualified to keep correctly and elegantly the accounts of any business.

The student practically opens, conducts, closes and reopens a set of partnership accounts; has brought before him more than a hundred different business transactions, each of which is a subject of remark, conversation and study; he becomes familiar with the various account books from actual use or reference, with trial balances, balance sheets, various mercantile calculations in Equation of Payments, Discount, and Interest, Exchange, Insurance, &c. &c.

PRICE NOT THE TEST OF CHEAPNESS.

PRICE NOT THE TEST OF CREAPNESS.

Political economists have frequently differed as to what wa a fair, and at the same time, the surest measure of value; how we never yet came across any one who had gravely recorded it to be his opinion that the nominal price any article sold for, was any measure of its actual value. Such a notice would be deemed so great a fallacy, that its statement on paper as a logical deduction, would prove its own absurdity, and yet, those individuals who run about from one store to another for the purpose of ascertaining the minimum number of dollars and central twhich they can be furnished with articles of food and raiment, of course commit a skill greater, because a more practical absurdity, than any speculative philosopher would do, who sat down in his closet to argue from such false premises. The one would merely be laughed at as a visionary schemer, but the other is deemed it only to graduate among the philosophers of Laputa, who contemplated making deal board out of Sawdust, and extracting sunbeams from neuembers. Taking that most important of all articles to men in this dressing age, a coat, whether frock, cress, riding, or the kind called "top," in matters not, and see how many different elements, all of which affect the interest of the weaper, go to make up its cost.

1st, There is the raw material, and secondly, the quality of the dye used and the degree of skill possessed by the manufacture of the cloth. These primordial ingredents towards a cost, this self evident, must vary as much as the wind, weather, or ever woman's caprice; and 2dly, when it comes into the hands of "the Snyder," there is the skill of the cutter, the quality of the triumings, and last, though not least, the scientific qualification which the artist may possess, who is to send it "into this breathing world," not "a thing of shreds and patches," but an article of beauty, utility and lusary fated either to adorn, or descerate the human forms. Other reasons could be adduced to have a complete the service of th

Old Song.

WE have chosen the above couplet of the old song as the heading of this advertisement, from a firm conviction of its trath. Having now on hand an assortment of the finest Segars ever imported in the United State hand selected expressly for this establishment toy our agent at Havana, we fee great confidence in recommending them to our friends and the public. The assortment compresses the hiscest and most popular brands—including the Entra Noriega, La Normas, Imperial, Trabuco, Impressa, Camones, Premiers Regalie, the finast ever sent to this country, and imported expressly for private use; and various others which all who can appreciate the junctury of a good segar are invited to call and examine.

Remember that Seixas, 85 Cedar street, receives his Segam direct from Havana; they are selected exclusively for him with the greatest care by a competent judge, and there is no other place in the city where strangers and others can obtain, with equal certainty, the genuine and pure Havana's, 65 Cedar street, jy26-lm*

TOO ARCHITECTS, BUILDERS, AND OTHERS—

TTO ARCHITECTS, BUILDERS, AND OTHERS—
The subscribers would respectfully inform builders and sthers, that they have constantly on hand, and are prepared to fornish at short notice, architectural ornaments of every description, "for the interior finishing of dwellings, every description, "for the interior finishing of dwellings, shurches, and other public buildings," vizs capitals for columns, and ante do to aff the orders of architecture, conseles, trasses, excised mouldings, rosettes, patares, frieze ornaments, ac. anske. to any size. The long proved quality of composition ornaments, as executed by them, renders it meless to my much in its enlegy; and, with the means they possess, and from long practice in the execution of models, moulds, and svery department of business, fatter themselves that for boldness of relief, and general sharpness and beauty, their work will be found much superior to any thing of the kind done in any other place, they having avoided that tiny, flat and undefined appearance, so much and so justly complained of. Great attention having been paid to the modes of manufacture, to insure the best quality, at the lowest pessible price, they are happy to say that their present seale of prices will be found to be beyond the reach of abstement or competition.

Builders out of New York, in any part of the United States, would find a material saving, and likewise procure a superior article by calling or writing for any thing of the kind they may require, as we have on hand, and are enabled to fill orders to any amount at very short notice.

J. STONE'S WATER FILTERS—These filters have been highly approved of in Europe and America for the last thirty years, and are accounted superior to any hith-rio invented, as they combine the properties of purifying as well as clarifying the most turbid water. It is almost needless to advert to the utility and advantages to be derived from the use of a well constructed filtering apparaus, as it is obvious to every person that filtered rain water is much more wholesome and conducive to health than either spring or river water, the former almost invaringly containing unneral substances in solution, and the latter being impregnated with decayed and putrid animal and vegetable matter, the constant use of which frequently occasions the most decayful diseases, such as fevers, agues, there complaints, &c. Fittered water is also of the great at importance for extracting more perfectly the virtues of use, coffee, &c, the truth of which can be easily tested by making the experiment with filtered and notifiered owter. Manufactured and solitonly by J. STONE, Plumber and Engineer, 300 Broadway, N. Y.
